We swaped tobacco work with Uncle Joe. He liked for Mama to keep the hands going at barn. Aunt Bertie would cook dinner & work at the barn in the afternoon.

One day Jim Warren came to the barn said his mules had gotten out & he had been unable to find them. He wanted to borrow Daddy mules, which he did not loan, unless he went with them - He wanted his mules taken good care of. So Daddy & Mr. Warren ~~agreed for~~ decided for us to go help them gather their tobacco and use Daddy's mules & Mr Warren would sent help to gather our tobacco. They called it swaping work - nobody had much money so we helped one another.
