I finished the seventh grade at Deep Ditch School. Then when school went out at Deep Ditch my father brought us to Nashville to Elementary School (where the present City Hall is) He paid $3.00 tuition a month for each of us $12.00. Lots of money then.

Daddy brought his hay mower with 2 mules & kept the school yard mowed. Mrs. Daines asked daddy if he would mower the yard. Then later Cars were driving up in the School yard. Mr. Daines asked daddy if he would cut cypress posts to put up around the school near enough together cars could not drive on the Campus. Daddy & his help cut & peeled the cypress post. Daddy & other parents metond put up the posts.

Mrs. Ludell Lyson was my teacher. The school had a school closing. I was in the play. "The Backward Look" I will never forget I was a little shy. We had to wear our clothes backwards & march around the square advertising. Everybody looking & laughing at us.

I said to myself what next. Daddy & Mama wanted us to have an education!

Bringing us to school in the morning & coming back after us in the afternoon plus paying $12.00 a month because we lived outside Nashville School District.
